This coin was issued by the authority of the Bank of Zambia. It is one of a series of legal tender proof coins celebrating the 25th Anniversary of the World Wildlife Fund.

The obverse features a portrait of the first President of the Republic of Zambia, Dr Kenneth David Kaunda, with the inscription "Zambia 1986".

The reverse design depicts a White winged Flufftail and the denomination "10 Kwacha". White winged Flufftails are very rare members of the crane family. They are various shades of chestnut in color with a whitish chin and throat, black and white markings on the tail wings and a purplish colored bill. They inhabit marshland and floodplain area, amongst clump grasses and reeds, and feed on aquatic insects and larvae.

Because White-winged Flufftails are so scarce, there is little information on the habits of these birds and nothing at all is known about their breeding season, nests or eggs. The lack of knowledge makes conservation procedures difficult to determine until more research is completed

The Republic of Zambia has many national parks, created to protect the abundant wildlife, such as the Kafue National Park, one of the largest in the world, and the Mosi Oa-Tunya National Park which contains the magnificent Victoria Falls.

NUMISMATIC COINS

The Bank of Zambia has available for sale to members of the general public various numismatic coins. The coins were minted to commemorate various national and international historical events some of which date as far back as 1969. Coin collectors with much experience say numismatic coins have three main attractions: Rarity, Metallic Art and the Link between Coin and history. Of the three factors, history is probably the most compelling aspect in numismatics. Every little piece of coin has a story to tell. Most recently the Bank minted a K50 bimetallic coin to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Bank of Zambia's founding.

K50 Bank of Zambia 50th Anniversary (2014)

This bimetallic coin was issued on 7th August, 2014 to commemorate the Bank of Zambia's 50 years of existence.

The coin, struck in Nickel Brass and Cupro-Nickel is a symbol of the Bank of Zambia's continued support to the national economy through the issuance of legal tender, as well as prudent monetary policy management which together have enabled Zambia's economic prosperity over the years.

The obverse side of the coin depicts the Coat of Arms which is Zambia's National symbol with the wording "Zambia" and the face value of Fifty Kwacha

The reverse side depicts the portrait of the 5th Republican President of Zambia, His Excellency Mr Michael Chilufya Sata with the wording "Bank of Zambia 50th Anniversary" and the commemoration period "1964-2014".

K100 Olympic Barcelona (1992)

In 1992, the beautiful and historic city of Barcelona played host to the Olympic Games. To commemorate the great sporting occasion, the Central Bank of Zambia authorised the Royal Mint to issue a limited quantity of silver Proof K100 Kwacha coins.

Even with the original games in Olympia, Ancient Greece coins and medals were struck to celebrate the Olympic events. This tradition has continued throughout the modern Olympics providing a tangible record, spanning a period of 2,500 years, of these unique Games.

This coin was designed by Williem Vis and has been struck to the highest proof standard. It portrays two boxers locked in combat while the reverse side bears the Coat of Arms of Zambia.

K10 Save the Children Silver Coin (1989)

This coin was issued by the authority of the Bank of Zambia in 1989. It is one of a series of legal tender proof coins celebrating the 70th Anniversary of the Save the Children Fund.

The obverse design features a portrait of the first President, Dr Kenneth David Kaunda, with the inscription "Zambia 1989"

The reverse design depicts a child with maize plants, the inscription "Save the Children" and the denomination "10 Kwacha"

The Zambian government has been actively engaged in introducing agricultural reforms aimed at improving methods of crop growing and harvesting and leading the nation toward self sufficiency. Zambian children are made aware of the importance of the land to the country's economy and encouraged to participate in the growing and harvesting of crops.

The Republic of Zambia lies between the Equator and the tropic of Capricorn in Central Africa. It covers an area of 752,614 square kilometers and has many national parks, created to protect the abundant wildlife.
